Is your salmon oil really wild? Or just “branded wild”... even though it was raised on a farm?

*Farmed salmon are raised on diets that include up to 15% vegetable oil, which significantly lowers the Omega-3 content in farmed salmon oil. In addition, it takes up to 40% more farmed salmon oil (which adds up to 40% more calories) to achieve the same results as wild salmon oil. Grizzly Salmon Oil uses only wild Alaskan salmon -- making it far more effective and healthy for pets.

Omega-3 content is like a fingerprint that uniquely discloses the origin of any salmon oil.
